Music for Retirement Communities

Singing songs of American popular music from the early 20th Century with guitar and fiddle.

Chip has performed close to 500 shows at retirement communities. Many of these songs, he learned from his father, a fine singer indeed. His shows always feature some good old time fiddling and a few funny tales to enliven the spirit. Be prepared to join in the singing and perhaps a little dancin'!

Quotes from Retirement Community Activity Directors:

"Excellent performing! Residents danced and clapped during the music, everybody had a good time. Happy to have you again."

Silvia Suarez, Valley House Rehabilitation Center

"Wow Chip, you were great, see you soon!"

Brenda Whorley, Los Gatos Meadows

"Residents said he is very, very good. They want him to come back soon. He is one of the best singers at Young at Heart. He brought memories back. Send him soon please."

Elvira Mendoza, Pacific Coast Manor

"Wow!" Chip you were great. Thank you for coming to visit and entertain us here at Mission Villa. I liked the fact that you had interaction with our residents—and kept the songs coming. Can't wait to have you again."

Claudia Alarcron, Mission Villa

"Great job! Residents really enjoyed the show. Great singer and mean fiddle player. Showed up early and stayed a little late. Come back soon."

Arthur Chalmers, Idylwood Care Center
